Hail! Hail! The Gang's all Here

WHAT a memorable year this has been! Let us just recall a few of the events that are important to us all.

On December 3rd, 1915, Lieutenant-Colonel Weir received a telegram from the Minister of Militia and Defence authorizing him to recruit the Battalion. The first public appeal for recruits was the meeting held in the Town Hall at Walkerton on December 21st, 1915. A few had enlisted before this meeting, but the game was on then in earnest. We should be proud of our county, for within four months from that meeting we had completed recruiting and had commenced hard training. In all we had recruited 1,318 men, exclusive of officers.

Next the mobilization at Walkerton on May 3rd, when for the first time the family got together, coming from Kincardine, Ripley, Lucknow, Teeswater, Mildmay, Paisley, Port Elgin, Southampton, Hepworth, Tobermory, Lion's Head, Cape Croker, Wiarton, Tara and Chesley to join in with the detachment at Walkerton. How it did rain last May! Nearly every day, except on the 24th, which was the choice day of the year for our sports and parade, and attracted the largest crowd Walkerton ever saw.

Then the trip to Chesley on June 2nd, and the two good days we spent there that made us forget all about having been caught in the rain on the way over. Do you recall how quiet the town was on June 5th, the day we came back from Chesley? Could any of the boys have been tired?

Then came the move to London, Ont., on June 21st, and, with our usual good luck, we landed there on the first day that it had not rained for a month, and it scarcely rained again while we were there, if we except the big storm that sent so many tents over. We were not long there before the harvesting leave commenced, and the whole camp seemed almost deserted for a month, but the clan regathered again, and in a short while—to be exact, on August 21st—we moved down to Carling Heights, grumbling every inch of the way. Indeed, the new camp site was not to be compared with our former location at Camp Grosvenor. Everyone must readily recall how pleased we all felt about the result of our inspection by General Lessard, although it was hardly as exciting as the inspection by Sir Sam Hughes on June 22nd. Then, just as the nights began to get cold in October we heard a rumor, which later crystallized into instructions, to prepare to leave for England about the middle of the month. Now we were up against taking which for us was the biggest step yet in the biggest game in the world, and what a general undercurrent of excitement prevailed all through the camp during that last week! With the exception of a few who got married, all the rest of us came through it without accident and were in time to have our photographs taken and march to the trains at noon on October 14th. Major Moffat, in charge of "A" and "B" Companies, the Machine Gun Section, and the Bugle Band, went out on the first train, and the second train carried Lieutenant-Colonel Weir, with the other two companies, the Brass Band, the Signal Section, Stretcher-bearers, Pioneers, etc. That was on Saturday. On Tuesday we were in Halifax, and went aboard the "Metagama" in the afternoon, with 1,008 in all, officers, non-commissioned officers and men. Everyone who left with us at London were all aboard ship. We were told this was a record. On Wednesday, the 18th October, we sailed out of Halifax basin. For the sake of some of us we will draw a veil over what happened during the next ten days, and will try to forget the black despair of those ten nights, adding only that the sea was quite rough at times. Disembarking at Birkenhead on the 28th of October, and entraining immediately, we surely had a pleasant trip to Milford Station, from which we marched to Witley Camp. We were to learn now what rain was, for it rained and rained and rained again, day and night for seven days. But, as usual, when it was published in Orders that we were to march to Bramshott the clouds all rolled away, and we had a delightful tramp across. So this Christmas finds us still at Bramshott, farther away from home than most of us ever thought of coming, and makes us wish and hope that next Christmas will see us home again, where, to those who were not with us on THE BIG TRIP, we will spin the most amazing yarns.
